

February 15, 2013

Restaurants

Where to Find Hungarian Pastries and Punk in Morningside Heights

By Jessica Goodman

Welcome to Drinks, Dinner, and Dessert, in which we share three picks in one neighborhood, keeping an eye out for deals, off-the-menu items, and new stuff to check out. This week, get off the 1 train at 110th Street and use these suggestions to guide you through Morningside Heights.

Dinner: Amigos

Amigos is the month-old pop-up Mexican restaurant from Chef Alex Garcia of A.G. Kitchen that has already garnered a neighborhood following. Garcia's burgers are topped with bacon, cheddar, and guacamole, and served with spicy "Mexican" fries for $13. The queso fundido mixed with mushrooms and red peppers pulls apart easily and is served piping-hot with warm tortillas for $9. If you're with a group, order the 32-ounce Fish Bowl -- near-lethal pineapple rum punch -- for $19. But if you're dipping into beach drinks, you might as well order a $10 "Shark Attack," a mixture of vodka, lemonade, and grenadine, which comes with a toy shark. 2888 Broadway